BASE BALL

Norway High 13, Gould's 4

It was a beautiful day for base ball last Friday at Alumni Field. The Norway High School boys are sure of it, and the girls who were selling pop corn to supplement their Silver Bay fund sold out their whole stock in trade so they agree. And the Gould's Academy boys—why, they just as soon talk about the weather as about the game.

The error column tells the story of the disaster. Of course the base hits are interesting, but with stiffer defensive play on the part of Gould's the boys from down the line would not have had so many chances to show what they could do with Howe's delivery. Nine Norway men got to first on errors and when they got first they showed that sprinting was a part of their job, for every time but one that a base came by gift they stole another. For the visitors Shepherd started, accepting eight chances in the field without error—turning in three runs and two hits. Haskell was high line on run getting with four tallies and three clean hits. McDaniels caught well, and Klein fielded his position well except for one bad throw which let in two of Gould's scores.

Hayford of Gould's made the best individual plays for his side. Chandler's steady work as backstop won approval and Howe kept the hits few and scattered through the early part of the game and fielded well throughout. The thrilling moment for Gould's came in the second when with three men on bases, Howe's fast one caught McDaniels for the third strike, and kept Norway scoreless.

The real heart break came in the first of the fifth, when three bases on balls and two stellar misuses in the field gave Norway five runs and made the game sure to them.

COLUMBIAN CLUB.

The Columbian Club held its annual meeting and last meeting for the season at the home of Mrs. O. M. Mason, Friday afternoon, May 22nd.

The afternoon was wholly devoted to the "Panama" and it was a program of unusual interest. Miss Alice Mason gave a very clear and concise talk up on the wonderful engineering and mechanism of the "Locks of the Canal." Mrs. E. S. Kihara, who has but recently returned from quite an extended tour, and having spent some days in the "Zone" continued and supplemented Miss Mason's paper with her personal experiences and explanations. By the aid of maps and photographs the Club felt they had almost seen and enjoyed this wonderful wonder of the age. The Club elected the following officers for the coming year: President, Miss Annie M. Fries; 1st Vice President, Mrs. Alice Vandenkerkhoven; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. Emma Van Den Kerckhoven; Secretary and Treasurer, Miss Van Den Kerckhoven; Directors: Miss Maat Thurston, chairman; Miss Florence Carter, Mrs. Nellie Cartie, Mrs. Sarah McKimney, Mrs. O. M. Mason, Mrs. H. Jorlan, Mrs. Lyman Wheeler.

At the close of the business session the members were invited into the dining room where delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. and Miss Ma-

OXFORD COUNTY W. C. T. U. CONVENTION

The annual convention of the Oxford County W. C. T. U. met in West Paris, May 26-27. The beautiful weather and hospitality of the entertaining Union gave assurance of a successful meeting.

Mrs. E. A. G. Stickney of East Brownfield, who has been the efficient and faithful President for ten years, presided.

The program was carried out with few changes. Mrs. Deborah Knox Livingstone of Bangor, a national worker, was present and was helpful and inspiring. The welcome by Mrs. D. A. Ball was very fine and Mrs. McWhorter of South Paris, in behalf of the Unions, gave an equally hearty response. The report of the corresponding secretary showed the ten Unions in the County to be doing active work and the treasurer's report showed the finances of the County W. C. T. U. to be in good condition with bills all paid and a balance in the treasury.

The President's message was a resume of the work accomplished the past year with helpful suggestions for the present year. A loving tribute to our dear promoted leader, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, was given by Mrs. Stickney, as they had walked and worked together many years.

A memorial service for the members of the County Unions was conducted by Mrs. E. W. Chandler and tribute paid to five of the faithful members who have been called to a higher service during the year. Mrs. Livingstone followed with tender words of appreciation for the beloved leader, Mrs. Stevens, who so many years led the Temperance forces of the State of Maine, the nation and the world, and urged a renewed consecration to the work if we would honor her memory and let the watchword be "Go Forward!"

The Children's Hour is always restful and encouraging as the business is laid aside for a short time and this hour was a pleasant part of the afternoon session. Accompanied by their teachers they marched in child song with all the enthusiasm of childhood. Mrs. Livingstone gave a short address and all sang: "America." Much credit was due Miss Lane, the organist, and the teachers and the pupils too.

Mrs. Livingstone gave a most convincing address in the evening upon National Prohibition, which held the closest attention of the audience.

Wednesday morning after the devotional service, business was resumed. All but two Departments taken up by the County were reported either by the Superintendent or a written communication. The following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Susie E. Chapman, South Paris; Vice President, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Mor, South Paris; Sec. Gen., Mrs. Anna W. White, West Paris; Treasurer, Mrs. Nellie Farnham, South Paris.

The resolutions adopted commended Gov. Haines for his attitude in national constitutional prohibition and further to reaffirm total abstinence the only way to rid the State and Nation of the curse of intemperance. A resolution was also adopted favoring equal suffrage resolutions expressing appreciation of conferees received from our County papers and all who helped to make the convention a success were adopted. This closed one of the most helpful conventions Adjourned to meet at South Paris, 1915.

E. W. C. Press Supt.

You are always loyal and loyal and the afternoon was one long to be remembered. The club year has been very pleasant and successful, while devoted to numbers from various causes, unavailing, the twenty faithful ones feel that this past season has been one of profit as well as pleasure, and that they are much better acquainted with South America than they were one year ago.

MEMORIAL DAY AT BETHEL

Inspiring Address By Rev. S. A. Blaisdell of Lewiston

Memorial Day was observed in Bethel by the decoration of the graves in the forenoon by details from the G. A. R. and S. of V. Exercises were also held in the church at East Bethel by the school children and members of the G. A. R.

In the afternoon Rev. T. C. Chapman offered prayer at the monument and the Gattysburg Address was given by Philip Wright. The G. A. R., S. of V., and Relief Corps, accompanied by a large number of school children and by the Boy Scouts, proceeded to Odell Hall where a prayer was offered by Rev. W. C. Curtis, and the speaker of the day was ably introduced by Prof. F. E. Hanson.

Rev. S. A. Blaisdell of Lewiston gave a very stirring address.

THE ADDRESS.

Brightening up the memories of the past, this age of luxury has something to learn from the age of homespun.

To the Grand Army of the Great Republic, Members of the Post, and to the ladies who share in the honors of which this occasion commemorates, fellow-citizens, and friends, I am fully conscious of the honor you have conferred upon me by asking me to address you on this occasion, and the confidence which you repose in me, makes me realize a responsibility under which I tremble lest I fail to speak the words that fittingly express the thoughts that cluster around this beautiful day.

It would seem more fitting for one of you who passed through the experience of those trying years, who was in the army, who heard the report of the musket, saw the comrade fall, and heard the cries of the wounded, for you to tell the story of the great struggle, to recall the deeds of valor, and rehearse the heroic acts of the boys whose gallantry is unsurpassed, who fought, bled, and died in the war of '61.

How can one who had no part in the war, was just old enough to join the infantry, and who never smelled gun powder, except on the Fourth of July and then only the powder of fireworks at that, speak to you whose hearts are swelling with the thrilling memories of those conflicts that time can never dim or efface?

Yet, between us there is a bond of sympathy, born of a mutual spirit which gives us a right to speak. To us who were born to late to prove on the battle field our courage and our loyalty, it is satisfying to realize that the opportunity is still open to show our love of country. In a nation like ours, where the government is founded upon the principle of equality, and her power is vested in the people, where education is a blessing, and where we are called to wear a crown, for him every year presents a battle field, and every year brings forth heroes for the display of patriotism and heroism and bravery.

The war in which you so patriotically gave your service was the greatest in the world's history; it stands out as a fact and alone. The world's greatest generals of that day and since, have considered it the most wonderful struggle in which men were ever engaged. The great men and great generals of Russia, Japan, England, France and Germany, point to that war as the most heroic and skillfully managed of any war in the history of the nations. The battle displayed the best strategy and displayed the greatest bravery and courage; also, the battles of Gettysburg, Vicksburg, and Chattanooga are without a parallel in the history of wars.

There is another fact of which we can boast. The character of the men who composed the army of the rebel was the finest element of our class of men that ever shouldered a musket. They were the best, clean, from the farms of New England, who had been carefully trained in comfortable homes, they were the products of the best home and care. They came from the mans of trade, the shops, and the mill. The college halls were deserted of students who helped to swell the ranks of the army. The professional men turned their backs on the chosen profession and took their place by the side of a less favored brother and to gather march to the storm center. Well has the poet said, "the artisan has forsaken his shop, the judge his tribunal, the clergyman his sanctuary, and left his retirement to mingle with the crowd, who anxious and agitating, were rushing to the front." The cleanest, brightest, most cultured company of men, as acknowledged by all, that ever composed an army. The wealth of the nation is not in its mines of gold and silver and iron, however valuable they may prove, not in its broad acres of grain, not the great arid plains, nor vast forests, but the wealth of a country consists in the greatness of its men and women. The Nations of Antiquity were rich in all the material wealth, yet they failed because their men had become degenerate by alcoholic drink, and when the struggle came for survival, they fell never to survive again. This is the sad story of Babylon, Nineveh, Tyre, Greece, Rome, Gaul, Rome made the deepest impress in history because she longest kept pure and free from the great destroyer, and upon the true principle of jurisprudence and justice reared wonderful institutions. But alas, the Romans compromised their principles and yielded to the use of alcohol and by it lost their vigorous manhood, sank so low as to put its crown up at auction and the proud Roman saw his country overthrown by the despised barbarians.

The war stood for two great principles: the preservation of the union, and the freedom of the slave. The first was understood by God and possibly a few who were near to Him.

The idea of American Nationality was born in the mind of Alexander Hamilton. Like all great ideas, when first advanced, the people accepted it slowly, some said it was the result of a dreamer, Jefferson among others, thought he saw in the idea a return to monarchy. Hamilton died with the gloomiest forebodings as to the future of his country. He even doubted if it would ever rise into the consciousness of a great people.

After Hamilton came Webster, his great successor. Webster was more optimistic for, with his ear to the ground, he heard the tread of the oncoming hero. He saw a great future for his people, and with the colored strength of a Hercules, he threw himself into the struggle for American Nationality. It became the ruling passion of his life and from that platform he was heard for that great end. He clothed his ideas in the language of reason and he met the hosts of his people with his untold eloquence. But notwithstanding his heroic efforts, one half of the north rejected his idea and separated the destiny of the nation had an able and separate successor in John C. Calhoun. State Rights seemed to many of the south states another name for liberty and liberty was the great American idea and anything that cut Americanism out of the people was frowned upon by all the people, because for it had been shot and treasure poured out.

Calhoun felt the whole South loyal to the idea of state rights; so that, when the immortal Webster, a statesman and scholar, had down to die his country seemed no nearer the union, which he so much desired, than when he began his splendid career.

The object of our national family began to back in 1820 when Missouri made an application to Congress proposing that slavery should be prohibited in Missouri, if she was to be admitted to the Union. This introduced the hot test discussion of the whole question of slavery. This matter was settled by a compromise that slavery should not be allowed in Missouri, but be permitted in all the territory of the United States, north and west of the northern boundary of Arkansas.

The contest had been expressed and began to develop by remarkable power until sectional feeling was kindled and a complete division of the Southland was made. In November, 1860, the national Union began to shatter. The lightning of fire and smoke began to flash both north and south, the mountains of distant thunder were heard in the north and were reaching in the south which gave the warning of an approaching storm.

On the fourth of March, 1861, Abraham Lincoln was ushered into the Presidential chair to galls the old ship of State that was reeling to and fro by the combination of the threatening tides. Who could conceive the eternal

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Nahum Barker of Bethel Celebrate

On the twenty-eighth of May, 1864, Nahum W. Barker was visiting in Westbrook, Maine. He remembers the date—and so does a certain Lucretia Morr who later formed the habit of writing her last name, Barker. In fact, it was on this day fifty years ago that these two young people stood before the Rev. Asahel Moore of famed Sacapappa village and said "I will" to certain questions asked, and heard him say "Whom God hath joined together let no man put asunder." Then after a prayer of benediction they went out to take up life anew as husband and wife.

Many things may happen in fifty years. But when hearts are steadfast and earth ties remain unbroken for all that time, it is fitting that some notice should be taken of the fact. That is why the Golden Wedding was observed last Thursday at the farm house which for forty-two years has been the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barker, and thither came children and children's children, relatives, friends, and neighbors to speak their words of congratulation and hearty good wishes, and leave their tokens of appreciation.

The event was arranged by the son and daughter, Edwin A. Barker, and Mrs. Lillian Stowell, of Bethel, and Mrs. Chesley Saunders of Hanover, the niece who is "just the same as a daughter" since her childhood knew no other home. These three with their efficient helpers left nothing undone which could add to the pleasure of the parents they delighted to honor, or of the guests of the day.

During the afternoon refreshments were served consisting of ice cream, cake and fruit punch. Mrs. Wright delighted the company with two solos, in which she was accompanied by Miss Packard. An original poem, specially contributed for the occasion was read by Mrs. Stowell, and words of felicitation were added by two of the local pastors who were present, the Reverends W. C. Curtis and T. C. Chapman.

Among the honored guests were three sisters of Mr. Barker: Mrs. Harriett Kilgore, of Gorham, N. H.; Mrs. Nancy Emery, of Auburn; and Mrs. Julia Pressey, of Lewiston. Others from out of town were Mrs. Laura Lary of Gorham, a niece, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barilank of Portland.

Among the loving remembrances from friends and relatives there were flowers, of course—rich bouquets of carnations. Wedding cake, and fruits and sweets graced the display of gifts very appropriately. Nine friends brought golden coins in token of their affection, but affection is golden by whatever kindly form it sees' expression and the many other gifts and the still more numerous letters of congratulation received were gold by this test.

May our friends long enjoy the remembrance of this happy day and feel all the good wishes it brought.

SAD ACCIDENT AT LOCKE'S MILLS.

While Wm. Oscar Brown and Christy Bryant were out in a canoe on the mill pond at Locke's Mills last Sunday the canoe was overturned and both men were thrown into the water.

Mr. Bryant succeeded in getting hold of the canoe and was rescued but Mr. Brown was held by the muddy bottom and did not come up.

The accident occurred about three o'clock in the afternoon and from then until midnight the pond was dragged and dynamite exploded. About midnight the body was located but it was not recovered until five o'clock the next morning. Coroner Packard of Bethel was summoned but he did not deem an inquest necessary.

Mr. Brown was 62 years old and a good maker by trade, being employed by the E. L. Tablets Spool Co. Besides his widow, Mr. Brown is survived by two sons, Roy H. of Bethel, N. H., and Thomas Brown of Locke's Mills; by two daughters, Alice Brown of Locke's Mills and Mrs. Belle Brown of Portland, and by two sisters, Mrs. John Swan of Bethel and Mrs. Dayton Bartlett of Berlin, N. H.

THE HOME CIRCLE.

Pleasant Reveries—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as they Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

A promise should be made with caution and kept with care.

Once to every man or nation comes the moment to decide, In the strife of truth with falsehood, for the good or evil side.

We seldom repeat talking too little, but very often too much. Honestly first, then courage, then brains and all are indispensable to make a good citizen.—Roosevelt.

ENCOURAGE YOUR CHILDREN. Encouragement works wonders with almost anybody, no matter what his occupation in life may be. A boy likes to be encouraged; so does a girl; a man likes it; also a woman; and even the old grandmother and grandfather have a relish for it.

Some people often make a mistake in not giving their children credit when they do a thing well; and some intentionally let a lesson that has been studied very hard, or a piece of work that has been well done by a boy or girl, pass without the least notice. This discourages a child, and has a bad effect on his work.

Encouragement puts new life in a child, especially if it be bestowed by a parent. Yet there are people, who though anxious to have their children do well continually, and in a dispiriting way, telling them that they should not do so and so, and that it is wrong, etc., without ever having a little friendly talk with them, and giving them good advice, and encouraging them when they do right.

Some parents also make a mistake in leaving the education of their children wholly to the schools. They think if they send their children to school, and pay their way, that they—the parents—are doing their part, and that the children should do theirs. This may work very well with good boys, but with the careless, the thoughtless and the indifferent it does not work well.

IN THE HOME.

If you, busy mother, would make of your home an ideal home, and send your family out into the world well equipped to meet life and its varied problems, get them now into the way of feeling that a sunny face and a sunny heart are two of the first requisites to health and happiness, as indeed they are, and that it lies in the power of each individual to succeed in any appointed task if he but bring to it will and determination, coupled with self-control.

Let each child in the family feel that you expect nothing short of the best. Make them understand that motives are counted, as well as results, and pass lightly over accidents, for many a child has formed the habit of untruthfulness through fear. Teach them politeness, all those little courtesies that are so easy to learn in childhood and youth, but so hard to acquire in after life, together with the habits of personal neatness and cleanliness, if you would fit them thoroughly for an all-round happy life in the years to come.

"Please" and "thank you" are keys that have unlocked many a door to promotion in one walk of life or another.

Remember that a clean, well-appointed

NERVOUS HEADACHES

Heavy Feeling, as if My Brain Was Pressing Down

Mrs. Hill says: "I cannot tell you how much I have suffered during the past twelve years. Twelve years is a long time for any one to suffer. A great multitude of women in this country know exactly what Mrs. Hill means when she says, 'If only my brain was pressing down. So nervous I could not get my rest at night. Would have sinking spells and then so weak that I could not do my work.' A great many women in the United States will recognize in this description their own experience."

Mrs. Hill found a remedy. After taking four bottles of Peruna she gained in strength and flesh and wrote us that she was a well woman again. She says, "I can thank you enough for my recovery."

This is no ordinary incident. Twelve years suffering. Four bottles of Peruna. Restored to perfect health. If Peruna can do this for one woman why can it not do for another? Is it not worth your attention? Is it not worth trying?

These who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

ed table, crisp cloth and napkins, good table manners and cheerfulness are as essential to right development as is the food itself; so put a little extra time into these things at the expense, if need be, of some of the pastry, fancy puddings and cakes.

Don't think you must do it all yourself. It gives any child a dependable, self-reliance to have simple tasks required of it and to know they must be done with neatness, willingness and dispatch; and it gives you a few minutes to read, study or rest, that you may the better keep pace with the growing family about you, and discuss more intelligently with your husband the business problems of the day, and his own individual affairs.

If you would keep happy and young, do not let your mind deteriorate. Keep interested in the world—in life. Bear in mind that every home should have a daily paper, which should be read, and one or two good magazines which contain general articles as well as good, clean fiction.

Don't think that all of your time must be given to the children. It is not enough that your husband knows you love him. Take time to show him that you do. Don't get so wearied over the rest of the family and their problems that you cannot smile, or put a rose in your hair, for the one man out of all the earth. Remember that the most sacred, precious part of life is reserved for you two, and let nothing come between. No man or woman is too old or too busy to welcome love, and there would be fewer lonely hearts, fewer divorces and fewer unhappy homes if we realized it more fully, with the heart realization which counts.

MRS. LYON'S ACES AND PAINS

Have All Gone Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terre Hill, Pa.—"Kindly permit me to give you my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from female troubles for some time and had almost all kinds of aches—pains in lower part of back and in sides, and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a new woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—Mrs. AUGUSTUS LYON, Terre Hill, Pa.

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the greatest remedy for women's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womankind a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for women's ills.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

VIRGIL COLE.

The funeral of Virgil Cole, who passed away at his home in Buckfield, was held at 9 o'clock, Saturday, Rev. Frank Lamb officiating. The impressive Masonic ceremony was held, Mr. Cole being a valued member of Whitney Lodge, No. 167, of Canton. The remains, accompanied by a large number of relatives, were taken to Canton on the 11:10 train. A delegation from Evergreen Chapter, No. 24, O. E. S., of which he was a member, marched to the station to meet the funeral party and a goodly number of Masons accompanied the remains to Pine Woods cemetery, where the casket was opened and prayer offered by Rev. Mr. Lamb. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The members of the Eastern Star furnished dinner to the party at the Masonic banquet hall. Those who came from away were the widow, Mrs. Emma Cole, four sons, T. Percy Cole, and wife, Walter Cole and wife, and George Cole of Rumford; and Harold Cole and wife of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. James H. Ingersoll of Portland; Edward Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cole and Miss Mollie Cole of Buckfield, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cole of Turner, and Mrs. Emma Berry Stineford of Auburn.

Mr. Cole was born in Hartford, a son of Lemuel Cole and Lydia Lucas Cole, and was 79 years of age. He was twice married, his first wife being Lizzie S. Hodgdon. One daughter, Stella, was born to them. Mrs. Cole and daughter both passed away. Later Mr. Cole married Miss Emma Gurney of Canton and their married life has been an ideal one. Four sons came to bless this union, who have grown to manhood, devoted to their parents and highly esteemed in the communities in which they reside.

Mr. Cole was a man of sterling worth. He was a member of the Canton Baptist Church and not only was a professor of religion, but he lived the life. He was devoted to the orders of which he belonged and lived up to their teachings, and it is said of Mr. Cole that he had not an enemy in the world. He was a loving husband and father, a kind neighbor and an honored citizen.

The most of his married life was spent in Canton, living on the farm near the village, now owned by J. N. Tyler, for upwards of thirty years. Ten years ago, after their sons married and settled in homes of their own, Mr. and Mrs. Cole moved to Buckfield, where many of his relatives reside. The family have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends in their bereavement.

NECESSITIES OF LIFE.

The right medicine at the right time, is as much a necessity as food, shelter or clothing. Perhaps more so.

In its 60 years of relieving stomach troubles, remedying constipation and biliousness, and restoring strength and appetite, "L. F." Atwood's Medicine has become practically a necessity of New England life.

Mrs. Whitcomb's letter simply confirms what thousands of other folks already know:

"Have used your 'L. F.' Atwood's Medicine for more than 20 years. We consider it nearly as necessary as our food."

Opinion is not enough. Opinions differ. Here's a Bethel fact. You can test it.

"I had an attack of backache and as it did not seem to go away, I knew that I must take something," says Scott W. Robertson, painter, of Mason St., Bethel. "One of the family had been cured of similar trouble by Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got a box at Bosserman's Drug Store. They removed the trouble. It gives me pleasure to confirm all I said about Doan's Kidney Pills before."

The largest of the new buildings which is being erected—the main building so called—is 210x85 and is constructed to contain two large machines. The heater room is 75x90, and the small building 33x73. They have a shipping platform of 700 feet, which will soon be increased to 800 feet. The Maine Coated Paper Co., an auxiliary of the Oxford Paper Co., the buildings of which were completed last fall, is not as yet running to the full capacity of its plant, but they are receiving orders every day, and their work is steadily increasing each week. They, too, have plans for further improvements, which will be carried out and completed as soon as they are well formulated.

A queer combination of a motor cycle and an automobile has been seen on the streets of Rumford for the past few days. It consists of a regular motor cycle, with a seat for one attached by the side of it. It is said that many of these combinations are seen in Washington, and many of the other large cities, where the roads are paved and smooth. The trips about Rumford will test the advisability of the use of such a machine over roads that are not as smooth.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Events of Interest From the Seat of Government.

By J. E. Jones.

CATCHING UP WITH CANADA.

It has taken the American government a long time to wake up to the fact that the Canadian government has better homestead laws than our own, and for that reason the Dominion has been able to induce hundreds of thousands of Americans to go into Canada.

One of the provisions in the Canada homestead law allows an eighteen year old boy to acquire a home, and the result is that young men under age have been taking up the public lands of the Dominion. The proposition for homestead entries by minors has been gaining strength in Congress, and it received an impetus last month when the western governors in their annual conference at Denver, went on record as unanimously resolving that "we approve the plan now before Congress to permit homestead entries by persons over eighteen years of age."

The Interior Department and the Agricultural Department have both strongly endorsed the suggested legislation. Since the Secretary of the Interior has been enabled to designate entirely arid lands that cannot be irrigated as enlarged homesteads, enabling settlers to secure 320 acres of land instead of 160, there has been a noticeable improvement in conditions of settlers in sections of the country where grazing has been the principal source of income.

The change in the homestead law by which settlers can acquire a title in three years has more than doubled the entries throughout the United States. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912, the total homestead entries throughout the United States were 24,328, covering 4,308,064 acres of land. The three year homestead law was passed June 6, 1912, and during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, there were in the United States 52,252 final homestead entries, covering more than ten million acres of the public domain.

During the debate in the House upon the bill of Representative Taylor of Colorado, authorizing minors of eighteen years or over, to take homestead and desert land entries, Representative Burke of South Dakota, who is shortly to be advanced to the Senate, used the argument that many of the boys serving in the navy and marine corps are not more than eighteen years old, and that the average is about twenty. He insisted that these boys who recently gave their lives at Vera Cruz were not too young to file on a homestead, and he said that he preferred to encourage the boys to remain at home, to stay on the farm, instead of going into the army and navy. He concluded that "if a boy is old enough for military service he ought to be able to file on the public domain."

Burke, a Republican, and Taylor, a Democrat, have been two of the best friends of the homesteaders ever had in Congress, and they have both been enemies to what has been termed by them as "professional conservation." Taylor says that "there is no monopoly of agricultural land in the west today, and everyone who has a big farm is trying to cut it up and sell it into smaller tracts."

He adds that a comparison of the land laws of the Dominion of Canada with those of the United States, shows a great many more liberal features in the system of occupation in Canada than are found in our own homestead laws.

At the investigation before the Senate in January, Mr. William J. White, in charge of the immigration movement to Canada, testified that 800,000 citizens of the United States had gone to Canada to take up lands. The United States has just discovered that the Canadian government has been spending between $60,000 and $70,000 a year for advertising in the states along the border, and the greater part of the money has gone into the "patent insides" of country newspapers. Now since the horse has been stolen, Congress is going around to lock the doors, to check immigration.

According to our Agricultural Department the cost of producing wheat in Saskatchewan is fifty-five cents per bushel on the farm, and sixty-two cents per acre f. o. b. cars. It has been figured out that the Saskatchewan farmers last year realized fourteen and one-eighth cents profit per bushel.

And yet in the face of the long winters and scarcity of fuel in the Canadian northwest, the clever Canadians have coaxed away 800,000 farmers from the United States.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT IN WASHINGTON.

Colonel Roosevelt swooped down on the Capital, showed the National Geographic Society his new river, dropped in at the National Museum and looked at his old friends that fell before his gun in Africa, talked with a multitude of the country's biggest politicians, and turned National politics upside down, all in a few hours. This is the Colonel's second trip to Washington since he was President, and for exciting incidents there was nothing lacking, to disappoint his admirers or his foes.

PETITIONING IN DOCTOR COOK'S BEHALF.

A petition signed by several thousand citizens of Michigan asking Congress to recognize Dr. Frederick A. Cook as the discoverer of the north pole, has been presented to the Senate. Recently a resolution was introduced by Senator Folmer to the effect that Congress investigate Dr. Cook's claim. It is urged in behalf of Cook that he has never been given a fair chance to vindicate himself, and that the American people have uncharitably accepted the utterances of Admiral Peary that Cook was handling the world a "gold brick," and have made the Doctor the butt of national ridicule in preference to giving him the simple right of a "square deal."

COME HOME.Bertha Frances Hillman.
Come back from the mountain,
Come back from the plain,
Come back from the sea,
To your old home in Maine.Come from the great cities,
Leave their racket and din;
Come back from New York,
Leave its follies and sin.Come from far distant countries,
Where'er you now roam;
Come back to old Maine,
To your childhood's loved home.Come back, ye brave sons,
And ye daughters so fair;
Leave behind you all thoughts
Of your work and your care.Leave behind you all burdens
That through years you have won.
Be children in heart again
As when you were home.Dear hills and our valleys

And the waters sing as of old
